GEORGE E. MILLER TRES SUICIDE BY BUYS WESTBROOK KNIFE AND POISON

Major Ginter's Country Home
Sold to New Yorker for $87,500.

"Westbrook," the magnificent country home of the late Major Lewis Ginter, has been bought by George E. Miller, a wealthy manufacturer of New York City, for $87,500, the negotiations having been made by Pollard & Bagby through O. Herbert Funsten, of the real estate firm of Elam & Funsten, who represents Mrs. Albert Young, of New York, niece of Major Ginter. The place was especially bequeathed to Mrs. Young in Major Ginter's will.

The deeds of transfer will be recorded in the next few days. Mr. Miller intends to make "Westbrook" his summer home and contemplates making extensive improvements. He was in Richmond several weeks ago, when he looked the property over and decided to make the purchase.

"Westbrook" lies between the Brook Turnpike and the Hermitage Road, about four miles from the city. It adjoins the Joseph Brown Park and Bloomsdale farm and is just beyond Ginter Park. The property contains about 156 acres, which, it is said, may be divided into lots and sold to home-seekers, except the grounds immediately about the house.

Mr. Miller is associated with the Greenway Park Improvement Company, of New York, now operating in Henrico county.

Mrs. Alma Allison Slashes Her
Throat When Iodine Proves Ineffective.

When a dose of iodine failed to carry out her purpose of suicide, Mrs. Alma Allison, of Woodland Heights, Chesterfield county, yesterday procured a pocketknife and slashed her throat. This wound, however, is a superficial one, and reports last night were that she will recover. Mrs. Allison's mind is said to be impaired from the effects of ill health and despondency, and she is not thought to have been rational when she made the attempt to end her life. She was alone when the acts were committed, but was found a few minutes later by her mother, Mrs. Sarah Allison. The home is not far from Manchester, and a doctor was quickly summoned. Mrs. Allison was hysterical when he arrived, but became calm after treatment, and was resting quietly last night. J. H. Purcell, a brother, who lives at home, said the tragedy occurred, and was the second person who reached his sister's room. Neighbors heard screams, and within a few minutes the excitement was general.

Rudolph Allison, the husband, was sent for, and with his wife, not long afterwards. There are three children, but none of them were at home. The family has lived in Manchester for a number of years. It is not known where Mrs. Allison purchased the poison.

EGGS FEEL FIVE STORIES AND NO SHELLS CRACKED

Automatic Elevator in New Young Men's Christian Association Building Stands Unique Test While Ministers and Officials Look On.

Loaded with iron to test its strength, with eggs to show the cause with which it drops, and carrying a glass brimming full of water to demonstrate the perfection of its mechanism, the big automatic elevator in the new building of the Central Young Men's Christian Association, at Seventh and Grace streets, dropped five stories at noon yesterday, and nestled quietly and comfortably on the air-cushion in the basement.

The thousand pounds of iron failed to cause a crack; each egg remained intact, and most wonderful of all, not a drop of water spilled. The swimming representative was there to witness this performance, unique in Richmond, at least, but ministers of the gospel, officers of the association and other

With a bare quorum present the Common Council last night cleared the docket of all questions that did not require a two-thirds vote, in a short while, and with but little discussion. The only thing in the way of an argument was provoked by the petition of W. A. Chesterman sent from the Committee on Water, asking for a rebate of $152.55 for laying a four-inch water main from the high pressure service west of Laurel Street to the contractor, saying that he would be satisfied with a rebate of $1,000. Mr. Lynch made some motion for not having made better provision for high pressure in this part of the city, and Mr. Cutchins defended the action of the committee. There being not enough members present to pass upon such a question, it was laid over.

Wants Smith Placed.
Under the head of new business, Councilman Pollock offered a resolution to appropriate $12,000 for smooth paving on Eighth Street in front of the German Evangelical Lutheran church, and on Sixth Street from Leigh to Jackson Street. It was referred to the Committee on Finance.

Mr. Don Leavy offered a resolution providing that whenever the roadbed of a street was ordered by the Committee on Streets to be graded and gravelled or macadamized, the street shall be sprinkled with asphalt oil at the time or as soon as the work is completed. This was referred to the Committee on Streets. Mr. Lynch wanted $5,000 for Mosby and Twenty-first streets, and $2,000 was asked for the entertainment of the Plano Manufacturing Convention, which meets here this spring, both of which were sent to the Committee on Finance.

The Committee on Finance returned a resolution asking $7,015.25 for smooth paving on Thirty-fourth Street, which was ordered macadamized. The recommendation of the Light Committee to pay the foreman of the lower gas works $2 per day each was referred to the Committee on Ordinance, Charter and Reform. An ordinance placing the compensation of the clerk to the Water Committee at $1,500 per annum was also referred to the Committee on Ordinance, Charter and Reform. The Committee on Relief of the Poor presented a resolution that the City Home expense account since the close of the year, to pay wages funds were available. This was sent to the Committee on Finance.

Would Sell Old House.
The Grounds and Buildings Committee recommended that the committee be given authority to advertise for sale the property at Taylor's Park to be removed in ninety days, the purchaser giving bond for the faithful performance of his duty. This was adopted. The matter of fixing wages of certain employees was referred to the Committee on Ordinance, Charter and Reform.

As to the recommendation of the Board of Police Commissioners that twenty-five more patrolmen be authorized, the Committee on Ordinance, Charter and Reform recommended that, instead of the commission's request, fifteen men be authorized.

There was a resolution to place the salary of the bookkeeper and accountant of the City Engineer's office at $1,500, instead of $1,200, per annum were sent to the Committee on Finance. The recommendation that an investigation of the Broad Street sewer be made was broad as a matter of form, it being explained that such an investigation was already being conducted by a subcommittee of the Committee on Streets.

There was some doubt as to the ordinance offered by the Light Committee to erect a stave on the east side of pipes to the meters instead of to the property line, as heretofore, so the measure was tabled.

Allen Speaks to Bank Clerks.
George E. Allen, educational director of the New York Institute of Banking, spoke last night before the Richmond Chapter of the American Institute of Bankers. The lecture was well attended, and the speaker was highly complimentary in his remarks on local conditions. The Richmond chapter is now conducting weekly lectures on banking law under the guidance of Christopher B. Garrett, and is obtaining very satisfactory results. Along this line Mr. Allen outlines a movement of which he is a member, and which he has found the educational awakening during the last year greater than at any time since its inception.

Richmond Blues Pass Inspection.
Three Companies Make Good Showing Before United States Army Officers.

United States government inspection of the Richmond Blues was completed last night, when Companies B and C were inspected by Captain F. S. Hutton, Twelfth Infantry, United States Army, assisted by Captain Charles M. Wallace, of the First Virginia Regiment. The inspection was held in the First Regiment Armory, where the two companies arrived at 8 o'clock after a march which reminded them of Washington inauguration weather.

Major E. W. Bowles was present. Both companies put up a satisfactory appearance, and Captains Leary and Montague appeared to be well pleased with the appearance of their commands. The inspection was so thorough that every man in both companies was on pins and needles under the inspecting officers had passed them. Captain Hutton is an army in himself, and at first sight of his apparent six and a half feet of height the boys quaked. But his heart was as big as his mind, and he soon put them at ease, and the first dread passed at the sound of his voice. Whatever he thinks of the results of his various inspections of the Richmond commands he keeps to himself, making a report only to his own department, but his manner would lead to the belief that he found the Richmond volunteers to be up in the first ranks.

Company A, under command of Captain McDowell, was inspected on Wednesday night, and the initial company of the Blues was a credit to the city and every man in it. The other two to their commanding officers.

Except for the rookie of two weeks' enlistment, who, in answer to the question, said that he would come to port arms in case of fire at his post, and remain at port arms until the fire was over, the men seemed to be pretty familiar with their manual and well acquainted with the parts of their guns, and to be well informed as to the other things which all good soldiers should know.
